

Introducing Morgan Grimes, LCRT
Communication and Outreach Specialist

Hello,

My name is Morgan Grimes and I am so proud to be on board as a Communications and Outreach Specialist with the Berkeley-Charleston-Dorchester Council of Governments, focusing on the Lowcountry Rapid Transit project.

Equity in mobility is important – and needed – in our region, and LCRT represents our best chance in beginning to achieve that. This transit system will introduce modern, reliable transportation to our region’s busiest corridor, offering new connections for residents all along its 26-mile route. Linking the project to communities and businesses in a meaningful way is a key element in LCRT’s success, and I look forward to growing these relationships.

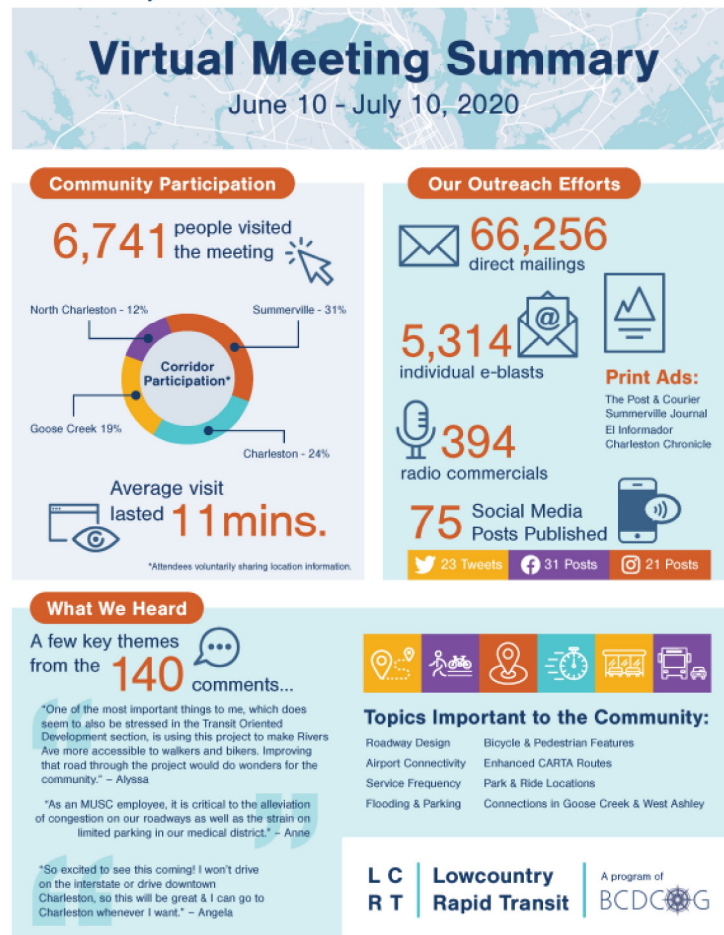

I am a Lowcountry native, born and raised in Summerville, and am a UofSC graduate with a degree in Public Relations. My previous experience includes the National Association of Black Journalists and the University of South Carolina Alumni Association.

Now, as a member of the BCDCOG staff, I’m looking forward to giving back to local communities and creating an atmosphere of inclusivity and connectivity. Feel free to reach out to me anytime at morgang@bcdco.org or 843-529-5035. I look forward to speaking with you soon!

- Morgan

Virtual Meeting Summary

The Lowcountry Rapid Transit (LCRT) project launched a virtual meeting that ran from June 10 to July 10, 2020. The project team created the infographic below to give you a better idea of what we’re hearing from the community.

More than 6,700 individuals participated in the LCRT virtual meeting that ran from June 10 - July 10. That engagement is crucial to bringing South Carolina’s first high-capacity transit system to the Lowcountry. The project team is now working to refine station locations and anticipates sharing that information with the public this fall.
